Also, staff is to debrief and safety plan with the client involved. The goal to is assess the situation that occurred to gain an understanding as to what occurred and why. The team would then work to identify strategies that may be effective in preventing or reducing similar incidents in the future. All relevant safety plans, the use of specific interventions, or anything else of relevance should be reflected in an updated behavioral support plan of the client involved. • Kerr utilizes an ESI committee that reviews restraint and seclusion data on a monthly basis to review ways to reduced the use of hold or seclusions within the program. This committee is composed of line staff and management.
